

Sound Kitchen is an opportunity for sound designers and composers who work in all forms of sound to publicly present or perform their works in a listening-friendly space. It draws on and builds an inclusive international community amongst sound designers and is an opportunity to learn about current trends and methods used by other designers around the world. It is also a fun and enjoyable event for WSD attendees and is an opportunity for non-sound people to learn about sound design. Sound Kitchen has a reputation of a crucial event for exchanging ideas, resulting in countless international friendships and collaborations. Offering a platform to budding and established sound artists and designers to present their work in a relaxed congenial environment, creating a rare opportunity to experiment and bond while learning from each other.
