MISSION & THE VIRTUAL EXPERIENCE

Connect with the Most Influential Decision-Makers in the Supply Chain Industry who are at the Forefront of Evaluating Emerging Technologies

This year's theme is "Driving the Digital Future" and will focus on emerging technologies such as Artificial Intelligence, Big Data, the Internet of Things, Predictive Analytics, and Mobile and Piece Picking Robots. The pandemic has unleashed an unprecedented amount of investment in technology to help us realize our strategies and business plans. After all, technology is the backbone of the digital supply chain future. Technology is also crucial to mitigate and recover from the next disruption, whatever that may be.

Like last year's virtual event, we will bring together industry leaders, academics and consultants who will share how they're putting to work emerging technologies to drive their supply chains into the digital future.

THE VIRTUAL EVENT EXPERIENCE

The NextGen Supply Chain Conference will virtually bring together an impressive lineup of industry leaders for an impactful, immersive, and interactive experience. You can expect the same exceptional content and high-level engagement as you would at our live event.

NETWORKING ON A DIGITAL SCALE

- Connect with attendees through rich interactive tools such as audio/video/text chat, polls, webinars, and videos in an immersive environment to get the conversation going.
- Participate in real-time chats and answer your prospects most pressing questions.
- Expand your professional network and add people directly to your social account.
- Connect with decision makers and peers.

THE VIRTUAL EXHIBIT HALL

- Time slots dedicated to the exhibit hall built into the agenda.
- Access to materials including brochures, data sheets, and videos.
- Booth representatives can engage with visitors via text/audio/video chat in real time or through a 1:1 chat window if privacy is required.

2020 IN REVIEW

On November 10-12, 2020, the 2nd annual NextGen Supply Chain Virtual Conference brought together an impressive lineup of nearly 600 industry leaders to discuss emerging technologies for an interactive, impactful and immersive experience.

The NextGen Supply Chain Conference presented case studies from industry leaders who are putting emerging technologies—Artificial Intelligence (AI), Big Data, the Internet of Things, Predictive Analytics, and Mobile and Piece Picking Robots—to work in their supply chains.

Keynotes from Mark Shirkness, VP Distribution, GE Appliances; Bobby Bernard, Exec Director, DCG Supply Chain Strategy & Innovation, Lenovo; and Ninian Wilson, Global Supply Chain Director, Vodafone & CEO, Vodafone Procurement Company, focused on supply chain innovation in smart distribution, blockchain and the digital supply chain.

In addition, attendees heard from Varadheesh Chennakrishnan, CIO - IT, Supply Chain and Logistics, Joann Stores about e-commerce fulfilment. David Villalpando, Sr Analyst, Logistics Analytics at The Kraft Heinz Company spoke about their efficient inventory frontier. In all, more than 30 supply chain executives covered the future of supply chain software; AI, Big Data and analytics; and meeting the e-fulfillment challenge along with panel discussions on software and robotics.
