

SESSION

Component Testing and Interpretation of Lab Scope Waveforms

DESCRIPTION

This class will demonstrate how to test components quickly and easily using a lab scope. During this class, attendees will learn how common automotive components function and what to look for when testing.

The class will also cover more than just the basics and build from single-channel tests through current ramping, multi-channel cam/crank correlation, network testing and ignition testing.

Sponsored By
Snap-on®

Educator: Jason Gabrenas