

UPSKILL YOUR STAFF THIS YEAR

If you would like to increase your staff's skillset, we can help!

Are you seeking development opportunities for your staff?

Then look no further - because we can help!

At Folkestone College, we offer our Level 2 Professional Cookery course.

Run by established industry professionals, this course develops key skills, such as general cookery and kitchen skills, and the basics of running a kitchen environment.

The catering and hospitality industry has ballooned in recent years – it now employs more than one in eight of the British workforce. The industry offers an exciting range of career paths, from traditional cooking roles in restaurants, to more unusual jobs, such as food writing and styling for magazines, product development, or even teaching.

This is a flexible, part-time course, running one day a week. This allows us to train your staff without it impacting on the day-to-day running of your business!

If you have staff members who you feel could benefit from upskilling, then we would be delighted to hear from you.
