ACA Adventist College Aboard

For 9 months of the year, English-speaking students who participate in the ACA program, whose purpose is to learn the Spanish language and Latin American culture, also join our campus and activities.

ACA is a program of the Adventist Church that is offered in several universities across the world.

UAP in Argentina is one of the affiliates that receives students who decide to follow this program.

ACA gives qualified students the opportunity to study here while completing the requirements of their courses at their home colleges. Students are immersed in Argentinian culture and lifestyle while learning Spanish. With this purpose, there are trips planned around Argentina, Peru and Brazil as well.

After completing the program, in addition to obtaining a certificate from UAP, the student can aspire to obtain the Spanish Certification granted by the Argentinean Ministry of Education.

Adventist Colleges Abroad

An extension of the UAP: our students serving around the world

The years of preparation on the university campus are a springboard that takes our students closer to their goals. The students who are interested have the opportunity to be part of the Adventist Volunteer Service, which is a large network for finding and offering volunteer work, and UAP is a part of this network. Many students choose to develop their service where there is a community that needs them.

If you got to this point, we thank you and we hope we were able to transmit at least just a part of how much we want to serve God and the community through Christian education.
