

Thursday, June 18, 2020

Telemedicine & Access to Care

Resources

National Consortium of Telehealth Resource Centers

The 12 regional and two national Telehealth Resource Centers (TRCs) have been established to provide assistance, education, and information to organizations and individuals who are actively providing or interested in providing health care at a distance.

www.telehealthresourcecenter.org

Resilient Health

Resilient Health research uses a virtual care command center to deliver in-person care from a distance.

www.resilienthealth.com

Project Extension For Community Healthcare Outcomes (ECHO)

Learn more about a collaborative model of education and care management while dramatically increasing access to care in rural areas.

<https://echo.unm.edu/covid-19>

<https://echo.unm.edu/covid-19/sessions/telehealth>

Overview: This session brought together patients, physicians, and advocates to discuss best practices for using telemedicine and to outline how we maintain access to care for people with diverse backgrounds.

www.COVIDAdvocacyExchange.com | #AdvocacyExchange

Read more about Project ECHO goals and collaboration with cancer experts at the National Cancer Institute: Bristol Myers Squibb Foundation Project ECHO

Learn more about the Harvard Business Review Special Coverage Coronavirus: Leading and working through a pandemic: HBR Special Coverage

Featured Speakers

Click on panelists name for LinkedIn profile if available

Adriana Zupa-Fernandez

Global PBRG (People & Business Resource Group) Lead
Bristol Myers Squibb

Leticia Ferri MD MSc PhD

Global Lead, OLA (Organization for Latino Achievement),
Bristol Myers Squibb

Matt Bouchonville, MD

Associate Professor, Division of Endocrinology, Associate Director, ECHO Institute, University of New Mexico School of Medicine

Dr. Morhaf Al Achkar

Lung Cancer Survivor
Family Physician, UW Medicine

Sandeep Pulim, MD

CMO Bluestream Health

Sirisha Mohan, MD

Keck School of Medicine of the University of Southern California