Welcome!

WELCOME TO THE NATIONAL URBAN LEAGUE'S 2022 ANNUAL CONFERENCE!

First, the good news—and it's great news! After two years as an exclusively virtual happening, the Urban League is happy to be back in-person with an exciting schedule of live sessions and special events. Appropriately, we've chosen Washington D.C. to serve as the host city for this historic conference. The fate of African Americans and, quite literally, the future of the Republic are unfolding here in the nation's capital and the Urban League needs to both influence and bear witness to the outcome.

More on that in a moment.

While we are genuinely thrilled to present in-person activities once again, the fact is that two years of virtual programming greatly extended the reach of our conference, allowing for the engagement of a vast, diverse audience of stakeholders in Black America. Clearly, there was no going back. The result is a hybrid conference that's online accessible and features exclusive virtual content. The future is hybrid and the Urban League is proud to lead the way.

Whether you are joining us in person, virtually, or both, thank you for participating in the Urban League's urgent work at such a challenging moment in the African American story. We've come to Washington during a critical election season, to defend voting rights and the integrity of the democratic process, demand an end to institutional racism, and raise our collective voice on behalf of the millions of Americans targeted and marginalized by extremism.

Over the next several days, you will have the opportunity to further these objections in collaboration with the nation's most influential business leaders, policymakers, community activists, and social justice advocates. At the same time, you will experience exclusive, issue-driven workshops, panel discussions, and networking opportunities.

Here's a preview:

Day 1 Empowerment Day + Urban League NOW: Experience & Expo

Dedicated to building a broad coalition into a powerful force for policy and social action

Day 2 Career & Professional Development Day + TechConnect

Features a series of workshops crafted for your growth and career advancement

Day 3 Small Business Matters Entrepreneurship Day

Where we will guide new and veteran entrepreneurs toward long-term success

Along with our President and CEO, Marc Morial, and the National Urban League Board of Trustees, I want to express our deepest appreciation to lead partners Bank of America, Nationwide, and Toyota, along with our wider community of corporate sponsors, who share our commitment to social equity and economic justice. Thank you for making this event possible.

MOSTLY, HOWEVER, I WANT TO THANK YOU FOR CHOOSING TO PARTICIPATE, AND FOR YOUR

AND FIGHT FOR A SHARED FUTURE DEDICATED TO EQUITY AND JUSTICE.

Sincerely,

Rhonda Spears Bell

In 2022, Right To Be, L'Oréal Paris, the NYC Commission on Gender Equity, and the NYC Mayor's Office to End Domestic and Gender-Based Violence join forces to ensure everyone's self-worth, leveraging Right To Be's "5Ds" methodology to help people safely intervene when they experience or witness harassment in public spaces. The goal of the Stand Up program in the U.S. is to train 20,000 people to become active bystanders before the end of 2022 and ultimately build a culture where street harassment is seen as unacceptable behavior. Globally, the campaign will train 1,000,000 people in bystander intervention.

2:00 PM–3:00 PM

GALDERMA
EST. 1901

BREAKING THE STIGMA

EXPO STAGE

Speakers

Katie Hamil, Medical Affairs Manager for the Prescription Business, Galderma

Dr. Christine Emesiani, Associate Medical Affairs Advisor for the Consumer Business, Galderma

Dr. Breanna Pasko, Medical Affairs Advisor, Medical Education for the Aesthetic Business, Galderma

Presentation 1: Breaking the Stigma—Skin of Color (SoC) Topics on Therapeutic Dermatology

Skin of Color is often under-represented in therapeutic dermatology. Galderma is committed to increasing awareness and addressing unmet needs for all patients. We discuss three topics which impact darker phototypes including: acne induced hyperpigmentation, melasma, and rosacea.

Presentation 2: Sunscreen and Skin of Color

Sunscreen is extremely important in keeping skin protected and helping to reduce the risk of damage or disease. However, misconceptions and barriers to its use still exist—including in those with Skin of Color. In this session we'll talk about why those barriers exist, why sun protection is such a vital step in everyone's routine, and some steps you can take to ensure your skin is taken care of!

Presentation 3: Break the Stigma in Aesthetics: Focus on Beauty Perceptions in Diverse Populations

Beauty is in the eye of the beholder. In this session we'll talk about a new research initiative that Galderma conducted to understand how facial beauty ideals differ across ethnic, racial, age, and gender groups.

SUPER SOUL: GROWN FOLKS DANCE PARTY!
EXPO STAGE

The party don't stop just 'cause you're over 40. Pleez! You're just getting warmed up! Jiggaerobics is back with an extra-lit workout session for the 4-to-the-O party people. Work it out to your best old school jams with the Jiggaerobics team. It's a Super Soul Party! The young'uns don't know about it!

From Hollywood to independent cinema, in theaters and on your favorite streaming services, we're experiencing an unprecedented emergence of Black creativity, representation, and artistic reach in film and the visual arts. With The Screening Room, the Urban League celebrates a new generation of Black artists who are exploring fresh avenues and platforms to tell their stories and share their vision. This is your space to experience innovative and entertaining film shorts from emerging filmmakers and catch first-look trailers from the year's most anticipated releases.

Who Told You That Your Black Is Not Beautiful?

Filmmaker: Dr. Karen Moore

This short film is a glimpse into colorism and the stories that shape our experiences both as deeply melanated and light skinned Black women. Through poetry and storytelling our voices and our stories are told about beauty and color.

Becoming Black Lawyers

Filmmaker: Evangeline Mitchell

When these ambitious attorneys set out on their journeys to receive a professional legal education, they did not realize that they would have to struggle against additional battles even more challenging than the rigors of learning the law in a hypercompetitive environment. They discover the contradictions of studying in an institution that idealistically represents "justice" for all.

How To Be Your Husband's Mistress

Filmmaker: Shirelle Thorne

Tina and Jackson seem to have the perfect marriage, so when Tina's girlfriends see Jackson entering the hotel room of a strange blonde woman, assumptions lead to disruptions in this inventive, unexpected relationships drama from filmmaker Shirelle Thorne. Get your popcorn and sit back because Tina has surprises in store.

I Hate This Freakin Job

Filmmaker: Monique Berkley

The story of a driven Black professional hoping to make her mark as a leading magazine editor only to face various "isms" all too familiar in the American workplace. On-point commentary and timely themes abound in the filmmaker's fresh vision.

Love Always, Eartha

Filmmaker: Dierdra McDowell

Love Always, Eartha brings us the life story of the legendary Eartha Kitt. Despite her great success as an adult, Eartha remained haunted by her past and was always in search of the nurturing feeling of unconditional love she lost when she was abandoned by her mother.

Maya and Her Lover (trailer)

Filmmaker: Nicole Sylvester

Maya, stifled by complicated memories of her overbearing father and on the verge of becoming a recluse, begins a sexual relationship with a much younger man whose dark side impedes his journey as he navigates his way as a Black man in America.

The Trail

Filmmaker: Shana Darabie

A husband and wife, out for a day trip, find themselves lost on an inescapable trail putting further strain on an already strained relationship.

Try

Filmmaker: Megan Ebor

What does Trauma look like? How does it manifest if unresolved in our communities? Inspired by real-life events, "Try" reveals the stories of 3 HIV+ support group members as they struggle to use new strategies for coping with the ups and downs of life and past and present.
